Listening Skills	Level	Your Performance
Listening	High	Test takers who receive a score at the HIGH level, as you did, typically understand conversations and lectures in English that present a wide range of listening demands. These demands can include difficult vocabulary (uncommon terms, or colloquial or figurative language), complex grammatical structures, abstract or complex ideas, and/or making sense of unexpected or seemingly contradictory information. When listening to lectures and conversations like these, test takers at the HIGH level typically can <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>understand main ideas and important details, whether they are stated or implied;</li><li>distinguish more important ideas from less important ones;</li><li>understand how information is being used (for example, to provide evidence for a claim or describe a step in a complex process);</li><li>recognize how pieces of information are connected (for example, in a cause-and-effect relationship);</li><li>understand many different ways that speakers use language for purposes other than to give information (for example, to emphasize a point, express agreement or disagreement, or convey intentions indirectly); and</li><li>synthesize information, even when it is not presented in sequence, and make correct inferences on the basis of that information.</li></ul>
