Recommendation Letter

To whom it may concern,

Akim Yemets is a student at Arnhem Business School and during his studies he appeared to be open-minded, hard-working, intelligent and highly respectful to the faculty and his classmates.

While taking my classes he showed initiative and brought up important issues to discussions, raising questions and paying attention to the details in order to thoroughly master the subject of International and Corporate Finance. His attention to detail and proactive nature allowed him to properly set priorities in his studies, especially in the areas of statistics, finance and interdisciplinary projects.

His analytical and planning skills were valuable to the Foreign Investment Project where his colleagues sought him out for suggestions and advice. His performance as project team leader was remarkable where he showed that he could stimulate and coordinate activities in an international project group. According to my observation, he was quite comfortable in that role and took the responsibility naturally as well as presenting and being able to communicate in a professional manner. Akim Yemets is highly organized, extremely motivated and focused.

I can give nothing but my highest possible recommendation for Akim Yemets and I am sure he will be a valuable employee for any potential employer and will significantly contribute to the success of the business he will be engaged in. I also recommend him as well for following any Business Master Programmes at University level as he has a genuine interest in the fields of Business, Economics and Finance.

Sincerely,

Dr. Florentin Popescu
